

The 2500th Anniversary of the Battle of Marathon

Doryanthes is an online magazine (for past editions, see: www.doryanthes.info/archive). Subscription (to the online version) is free and only requires persons to register their email address with us. We regularly publish articles of interest to all History syllabuses: History 7-10; Ancient and Modern History.

Our next edition, to be published on August 12, is in commemoration of the 2500th anniversary of the Battle of Marathon and will be of particular interests to students studying the various Greek options for the HSC. Articles in the August edition will cover: the Mound of the Athenians at Marathon; the first Marathon Race (490 BC); a survey of the Persian War period (490-479 BC); Hoplite Warfare as based on the evidence for the Nicholson Museum; and a translation and commentary of Cornelius Nepos', Life of Miltiades.

For this edition, Doryanthes has received funding from the Classical Association of NSW for the production of an additional 100 print copies of the magazine to be distributed free of charge to schools presenting students in Greek History at the HSC
